

Grammarly Nominated as “Best Bootstrapped Startup” in 7th Annual Crunchies Awards

San Francisco, Calif. -- February 11, 2014 -- Grammarly, the world’s leading automated proofreader, today announced it has been selected as the runner-up in the “Best Bootstrapped Startup” category in the 7th Annual Crunchies Awards.

“Grammarly is honored to be the runner-up in the 2013 Crunchies,” said Brad Hoover, CEO, Grammarly. “2013 was a banner year, and we appreciate the support of our customers and partners.”

Co-hosted by Gigaom, VentureBeat, and TechCrunch, the 2013 Crunchies is the seventh annual competition and award ceremony to recognize and celebrate the most compelling internet and technology innovations of the year. Winners are chosen based on popular choice nominations and voting.

Grammarly was recognized at the 7th Annual Crunchies Awards on Monday, February 10, 2014 at Davies Symphony Hall in San Francisco, Calif. John Oliver, a British comedian, political satirist, and actor, hosted the event.

About Grammarly

Grammarly improves communication among the world’s 2+ billion English writers. Its flagship product, the Grammarly Editor, corrects contextual spelling mistakes, checks for more than 250 common grammar errors, and enhances vocabulary usage. More than 3 million registered users worldwide trust Grammarly’s products, which are also licensed by more than 250 leading universities and corporations. Grammarly is a privately held company with headquarters in San Francisco, California. To learn more, visit Grammarly’s website or connect on Facebook (www.facebook.com/grammarly).

Media Contact:

Allison VanNest
Director of Public Relations, Grammarly
415-857-1560
allison.vannest@grammarly.com