

Erica Galos Alioto, Global Head of People

Erica is the Global Head of People at Grammarly, overseeing Grammarly's global talent, people programs, workplace experience, recruiting, and learning and development functions.

Previously, Erica held leadership roles at Opendoor and Yelp. As Chief People Officer at Opendoor, Erica oversaw human resources, recruiting, learning and development, and workplace experience. At Yelp, Erica built and led a team of 2,200 as Senior VP of Local Sales. Erica has served as an adviser to early-stage start-ups, an angel investor, and a scout for Sequoia Capital. She holds a bachelor's degree from UC Santa Barbara and a JD from UC Berkeley, where she began her career as a lawyer.